

Employment and Unemployment Labor Market Bingo Game

Your Name

Friday

Game Overview

- ▶ In-person, interactive game to learn about employment and unemployment factors and consequences in the labor market.
- ▶ Each student will receive a 5x5 bingo card with factors related to the labor market.
- ▶ The instructor will call out the consequences in a random order.
- ▶ The first student to complete a row or column on their card and shout "Bingo!" wins.

Game Instructions

1. Review your bingo card and familiarize yourself with the factors.
2. Listen carefully as the instructor calls out consequences.
3. Mark off the corresponding factors on your bingo card as their consequences are called.
4. The first student to complete a row or column on their card should shout "Bingo!".
5. The instructor will verify the winning card.

Consequence 1

Increased employment opportunities and higher wages

Consequence 2

Job losses and reduced demand for workers in shrinking industries

Consequence 3

Loss of jobs in manual and repetitive tasks, increased demand for skilled labor

Consequence 4

Changes in the labor market dynamics, such as increased minimum wages or labor protections

Consequence 5

Variation in job availability due to seasonal changes in demand

Consequence 6

Higher unemployment rates and reduced job opportunities

Consequence 7

Improved creativity, innovation, and decision-making within organizations

Consequence 8

Potential job losses in domestic markets and cost savings for companies

Consequence 9

Unemployment for unskilled workers and unfilled vacancies for employers

Consequence 10

Changes in the size and composition of the labor force, affecting job opportunities and wages

Consequence 11

Improved work-life balance and increased employee satisfaction

Consequence 12

Increased job opportunities for workers in different locations and potential cost savings for companies

Learning Objectives

Through this game, students will:

- ▶ Gain a better understanding of various factors and consequences in the labor market.
- ▶ Apply the concepts discussed in class in a fun and interactive way.
- ▶ Enhance teamwork and collaboration skills.